Welcome to the August Network News. It felt a bit of a treat when North Wales became the hottest spot in the UK for a few days in July - we are usually newsworthy for the most rainfall! But then the cold reality dawned. Climate change is no longer a theory or a future threat - it is here and now. Locally, farmers report springs and boreholes dry for the first time in living memory. Further afield all-time heat records were broken all around the world, including the cities of Montreal, Glasgow, Belfast, Yerevan and Athens.

In hi-tech Japan hundreds drowned and some seven million were either ordered or advised to evacuate in unprecedented floods. Then the rains gave way to a lethal heatwave. Elsewhere, “cool” Sweden cried out for help from neighbouring countries to deal with massive forest fires, which extended far into the Arctic Circle.

The motley crew who own and run the world have completely failed to avert this disaster. Thankfully their time is nearly up and a new generation is slowly but surely breaking through. The “Zero Hour” gatherings around the world in July were just the visible fraction of a growing multi-talented and multicultural movement: “Enough is enough. We cannot afford to wait any longer for adults to protect our right to a clean and safe environment, the natural resources we need to not just survive, but flourish.” Earth Guardians

In April next year, there will be a major international conference at the Findhorn Ecovillage in Scotland called “Climate Change & Consciousness” (CCC19). Representatives from indigenous communities and young activists will mix with well-known environmental pioneers for a full week grappling with the inner causes and outer effects of this planetary crisis. We will be there.

Blessings to all beings
Many of us have read books and attended talks and workshops on a wide variety of fascinating topics. We come away feeling inspired and energised, determined to make amazing changes in our lives… and then the reality of everyday living kicks in and all our wonderful intentions get swept beneath the busyness, commitments and pressures of 21st Century existence.

To enjoy a life which is morally and ethically active and spiritually alive we must learn how to fully integrate our highest ideals and practices into our everyday life – even the most mundane tasks and actions. Authentic spirituality needs to be fully embraced, practiced, lived and experienced every moment of every day.

Participating in the seven weekends, offered with Earthwalking, throughout the cycle of one whole year, gently and gradually demonstrates how you can do this. More, it doesn’t simply show you how you may achieve this; it engages you in active participation which over the months becomes a habit… a way of life. True, there are background notes to read to help basically explain some of the theory behind the activities, but what we participate in at each weekend gathering is of a strictly practical nature, allowing participants to experience and feel for themselves – to discover whole new ways of living, of becoming aware of other realms of existence, of other vital living energies, of ways in which we can befriend and work with them to heal our planet and mutually enrich and nourish our lives.

This does not just apply to the novice either. It is good practice for even the most spiritually active and adept among us to occasionally return to the basics – the simplest is the most effective. Nor do we need to become bogged down in all the pomp and theatricals of ritual and regalia to achieve what we seek – we already carry everything we need within us… the strong intention of achieving authentic living practice, the ability to be still and listen, the desire to reach out with love, a modicum of empathy and compassion. The rest is up to you – how completely, how intensely, how successfully you ‘walk your talk’.

It in no way means that you have to utterly change your life… move from where you live… leave your job… neglect your family… deprive yourself of the many blessings and joys of life in the twenty-first century. Just the reverse. Earthwalking is all about how to actively emblazon your spiritual ideals while you are doing the washing up, driving to work, taking a shower, cleaning the loo. From the basic mundane it can equally be applied at more intense levels… arbitrating in family, workplace or community disputes, shedding calm and positive energy on dark angry situations, mindfully making a difference to any world situation – you can, you know, simply by the power of your loving thoughts.

We are all amazing beings and have... great gifts at our disposal which can be utilised for the greatest benefit and good of all, anywhere, any time, simultaneously as we go about our daily tasks. Donning special robes and going to a designated place with other like-minded people can be supportive, empowering and enjoyable…but it isn’t necessary. We cannot all go into religious monasteries to live our spiritual lives. We need to be able to function spiritually as we go about every day in our home, the street, at work. Often all that is required is a few quiet moments to send some positive loving thoughts, or to smile at someone, or say a few kind words – even to a complete stranger. That is all. But the difference it makes can be monumental!

To achieve this all the clues lie around us in the natural world and the ancient Celtic beliefs which permeate the land we live in. To access it I take Earthwalkers back to the basics, gradually forming and deepening their relationship with the elements (Air, Fire, Water, Earth) and the elemental and divine energies/spirits which invests all things with life. You might find yourself lighting and warming yourself or cooking your food on your own log fire, paddling in flowing water, plunging your hands into fragrant clean soil or sitting befriending a plant, a tree or a stone.

We work seasonally too, learning why and how to honour the ever-changing seasons and how we can ideally embrace and meld not just with their energies, but with the expectations and constrictions they variously place upon us. Celebrate the coming darkness of Winter and the rebirth of the Light at Christmas; revel in the birthing of springtime; rejoice in the growing Light and blossoming time as the exuberance of early summer rolls out across the landscape bringing fruitfulness and the bounty of the autumn harvests and thanksgiving. Step back to remember and heal your past and the past of your ancestors. Learn to pass between different layers and worlds of existence and how to work in them and enjoy them. Initiate the habit of listening within – both to your own very wise physical body and to the small still voice of divine wisdom which dwells within us all. Make a habit of envisioning a better world and bring it into existence.

Celtic spirituality is rooted in a deep love of life and, traditionally, the hearth has always been central and sacred to Celtic society. I invite you to my own hearthside and offer you the opportunity for deep inner spiritual work by participating in simple actions and changes of perspective within your ordinary everyday life. This inevitably brings deep wisdom, contentment, happiness and healing.

On Sunday, the 19th August, I am holding a free introductory day. Come and meet the land which will be guiding your thoughts and steps every bit as much as me. Join in with some simple activities and share a hot, home made lunch. Live. Breath. Experience. Let go. Bring into being a new you… a new world.

My best wishes and love to you all.

Purpose & Intention:

Climate Change & Consciousness: Our Legacy for the Earth, April 20-26 2019, will be a collaborative and participatory investigation into how we can steward a sustainable future on what has already become a radically changed planet Earth. We have travelled to this ‘new’ planet on a burst of carbon dioxide. A new planet requires new ways of living.

The conference will bring together eminent scientists, wisdom keepers, business people, activists, artists, entrepreneurs, young people and others, to envision and begin to inhabit our joint future. It will be an international, inter-generational and multi-disciplinary gathering. This is the principle of ‘the big tent’, borrowed from party politics, whereby diverse viewpoints, backgrounds and interests (the ‘voices in the room’) are brought together to engage and dialogue. Through interactive, embodied and experiential means, participants will access intuitive, intelligent and innovative insights into how we will meet the demands of this new world. Each individual will be invited to invoke their ‘Legacy for the Earth.’ Our combined roles and commitment will represent a global mission of stewardship. Everyone will be part of this love story.

Participants will collaborate in exploring:

- The science and truth of climate change in language that we can all comprehend;
- Ways to embody our longing to connect with the Earth and hear Her voice;
- How we can build and rebuild communities as functional entities;
- Political, legal and social activism, and networking for social change;
- How do we nurture children and support youth to restore our environment;
- Alternative energy sources and appropriate technologies;
- Biodiversity and the intrinsic preciousness of all species;
- Racism, misogyny and gender bias – how they deepen the environmental crisis;
- Contemporary and traditional resources to address the trauma of climate change;
- What can we learn from indigenous cultures, activists and wisdom keepers;
- Healthcare and the detoxification of environmental pollutants and toxins; and
- How to generate inspiration for a grassroots upsurge to reclaim our future.

Three Major Orientations:

- AWAKE: Facing the truths of climate change.
- CELEBRATE: Using the arts to express our love for the Earth and all life.
- ACT: Developing our response, locally and globally.
Ten Guiding Principles of CCC19:
These principles were received along with the guidance for the manifestation of CLIMATE CHANGE & CONSCIOUSNESS on November 8, 2016:

1. That the gathering be a grassroots representation of diverse global populations;
2. That the gathering be held at the Findhorn Foundation due to its origins and because it represents and embodies community and sustainability;
3. That indigenous environmental leaders be represented;
4. That youth play a significant role and that their voices be heard;
5. That all participants, both at the conference and online, be encouraged to connect, engage, contribute and network.
6. That everyone at the gathering have an opportunity to establish and cultivate a direct, intimate and personal relationship with Nature;
7. That the gathering be infused with art as one of the key celebrations of human creativity and resiliency;
8. That the outcome of the gathering be the creation of networks of innovation and communities of inspired action;
9. That these networks and community initiatives be seeded before the conference begins; and,
10. That they be effectively supported to grow and flourish after the conference ends, in order to accelerate the generation of sustainable, life-serving responses to climate change.

Why This Conference Is Unique:
While words like ‘climate change’ and ‘sustainability’ are in the popular parlance, the truth about the magnitude of our environmental predicament is not well understood. This is in part because the language used to deliver the science is frequently infused with acronyms that deter engagement. This conference will translate scientific jargon into language that is accessible to anyone. In addition, we intend a celebratory response to climate change that emphasises human resilience and creativity, which is key to coping with the scientific reality. These two sides of the coin (environmental science and celebratory resilience) will be linked at every juncture of this gathering.

This conference will be led by some of the most knowledgeable and highly regarded voices of the climate change movement. The key contributors are recognised internationally for their expertise, their commanding presence, and their proven capacity to identify practical and optimistic strategies for sustainability action. Joining these voices with those of artists, healers, parents and youth has seldom been attempted in quite such a way.

Stephanie Mines PhD is a neuroscientist, psychologist and author of five books on the treatment of trauma and shock. She is the convener of CCC19.

The Findhorn Foundation is a renowned ecovillage, spiritual community and learning centre. This conference comes at a time when the art of community building is badly needed. Findhorn famously demonstrates the potential of community to develop low-impact settlements and lifestyles. Further, Findhorn’s deep roots in the natural world and 50 years of ‘co-creation with the intelligence of nature’ makes it the perfect host for this event.

The central intention of Climate Change & Consciousness is to encourage the participants (including thousands watching by live-stream) to prioritise their love for the Earth, putting the environment first in order to steward for the children of the future. This epitomises the role that Findhorn has long played in raising consciousness for the good of the whole. This conference fulfils Findhorn’s essential purpose as a lighthouse beaming forth messages from Mother Nature.
Recently, a colleague taught me some useful self-reflection questions, which can be applied to all areas of life, not just difficult moments in the practice of psychotherapy, so I thought I would share them with you…

- Think of a recent occasion when you felt uncomfortable.
- What did you do to escape from your discomfort?
- What might you have become aware of if you had stayed with the discomfort, and what could your discomfort have taught you?

I have a sign in my consulting room which reads “Life begins at the end of your comfort zone”. More often than not, we recoil when we reach the edge of our comfort zone. We pull away so automatically that we don’t even notice we are doing it, nor remember that we did it afterwards.

On customer service courses, participants are taught to welcome complaining customers. The things about a complaining customer is that they are willing to engage; their way of engaging makes them difficult to deal with but for every complaining customer, there are many others who will just take their business elsewhere.

A complaining customer is invaluable therefore: they are offering useful information on how you can improve your service. Uncomfortable feelings, like embarrassment, shame, and fear are the complaining customers of our psyche. They sit at the edge of our comfort zone, waiting to see if we dare approach. They make us feel a bit scared, and maybe a bit grumpy.

Most of the time, we’d much rather they just went away. They aren’t sure they want to talk with us, and we certainly don’t want to talk with them. They are those parts of ourselves that we have disowned and detached from.

If we just sit with them a while, and give them enough space to tell their story, we will surely learn something useful and maybe extend our comfort zone out that bit further.

The Mysteries of Cynghanedd Take part in an English speaking workshop facilitated by Arwyn Groe Davies to understand this unique form of Welsh meter. Cynghanedd (literally, “chiming”) developed in fourteenth-century Wales and grew out of a combination of the French troubadour measures and a Celtic love of intricate ornament for its own sake. W.H. Auden used to recommend that young poets compose Welsh stanzas, like the three-line englyn, for technical practice. Compared with free verse, the Welsh meters are an extreme sport. Refreshments provided. 7pm, all are welcome at Beaumaris Town Hall, Anglesey. Janet 07795 567689, janetsmithjanet@gmail.com

31st FRIDAY

House Dowser
Geopathic Stress Affects Everyone!
Could your home be responsible for your illness?
Is your relationship being stressed by your house?
Is the earth giving off rays that are affecting you?

Does your house need healing?
You could be being affected by the earth’s magnetic field. Fault lines and water veins deep under the ground concentrate this field, and they could very possibly be coming up through your house.

The Problem
The effect of Geopathic Stress is to depress the body’s immune system, particularly when you are sleeping over a negative place, causing illness, depression and stress.

The Solution
• Your house is dowsered for all negative influences.
• A report is drawn up.
• The house is cleansed and all stress removed.
• House Dowser brings back harmony, health and peace of mind.

Could this be the answer you’ve been looking for?

She Sees The Shadows Until 4th November. We are pleased to present the first off-site collaboration by DRAF (David Roberts Art Foundation). “She Sees The Shadows” is a group exhibition of works from the David Roberts Collection that resonate with the ideas found in Space and Sight. Each artist has re-conceived day-to-day objects and materials in unexpected ways – a bench, plug socket, grate, section of railing or broom – inviting viewers to see alternative qualities and narratives therein.

Mostyn, Llandudno LL30 1AB, 01492 879201, mostyn.org

Art For All Until 4th September. A wide range of work exhibited in Ucheldre's 27th annual Art for All Competition. Many paintings are for sale. A variety of mixed media work. Free entry, Ucheldre Centre, Holyhead 01407 763361, ucheldre.org

Lasting Impressions Until 23rd September. A closer look at what craftspeople make and the processes they use to produce a lasting object. Ruthin Craft Centre 01824 704774, ruthincraftcentre.org.uk

Huw Gareth Jones: Ar yr Ymylon~On the Edge 11th August - 23rd September. Open daily 10am – 5pm, free. Oriel Môn, Rhosmeirch, Llangefni, Ynys Môn LL77 7TQ, 01248 724444 oriel@ynysmon.gov.uk

Michael Sandle: Monumental Rage Until 7th October. In direct response to the horrors of our age, his work presents a passionate critique of the abuse of power in global conflict, politics and culture, and the accompanying cynicism and hypocrisy. Grosvenor Museum, Chester CH1 2DD. 01244 972197.

Jocelyn Roberts ~ Sea Changes 28th August - 15th September. An entire year of daily paintings of the North Wales Coast exploring the ever changing sea and sky. Theatr Clwyd, Mold 01352 701521, theatrclwyd.com

Chloe Holt ~ Paintings Until 15th August. These new works by Chloe cluster around ideas of emergence, of things becoming visible after being concealed, of things being brought into the light. Ffin y Parc, Llanrwst LL26 0PT, 01492 642070, welshart.net

Poor Taff - Golwg Llundain ar y Cymry / A London View of the Welsh People Until 4th November. This exhibition will show how the Welsh people were portrayed in the popular press in the 17th & 18th centuries. Some Welsh people adopted the images as acceptable representations of national identity. The exhibition explores how stereotypes of Welshness and Welsh identity evolved over time. Oriel Môn, Llangefni 01248 724444, oriel@ynysmon.gov.uk

Audrey Walker ~ Observations: A Retrospective Until 23rd September. Audrey Walker is celebrated as she reaches the age of ninety. Momentary glances, encounters, inward smiles, the simple pleasures of life have long fascinated the artist, as has the ability of centuries old images to make powerful connections with today. Ruthin Craft Centre 01824 704774, ruthincraftcentre.org.uk

James Green ~ Entering Donkey World Until 30th September. I felt compelled to celebrate donkeys (who I don’t consider are represented very well in the history of art, or sometimes appreciated generally) and create these compositions showing them having adventures in a mysterious world, free from any human control or servitude. Mostyn, Vaughan St., Llandudno LL30 1AB, 01492 879201, mostyn.org

NW Potters Gallery ~ August Makers of the month are Alan and Lyn Newton. 1 High St., Conwy LL32 8DB. 01492 593590, pottersgallery.co.uk

Tunnicliffe’s Measured Drawings Until 2nd September. The artist’s personal visual reference library, which he used for commercial illustrations and finished paintings. Oriel Ynys Mon, Llangefni 01248 724444, kyffinwilliams.info

Pensychnant Wildlife Art Until 30th September. Originals, prints and photographs in various styles and media. 11am - 5pm, £2.50. Pensychnant, Conwy LL32. 01492 592595, pensychnant.co.uk (Contact us if you want to exhibit)

NW Open Until 24th August. This large annual art exhibition features the diversity of artistic talent in North Wales, and includes painting, drawing, printmaking, photography and mixed media works. We know that the polar ice caps are shrinking – fast. And that this is affecting the lives of indigenous people, polar bears and other wildlife and, through global climate change, all of us. What can we in North Wales do about it . . . other than reduce our personal carbon footprints and plastic usage?

The Siku Project, based in and around Bangor and working closely with a number of departments at Bangor University, is developing machines that will tackle, in a small but significant way, the thinning Arctic ice (and permafrost) directly. The Siku machines, recently demonstrated at a Fun Day at Anglesey Sea Zoo, spray water on top of ice before it reaches its critical thickness, so allowing new ice to form on top and create a thick enough layer to survive the following summer.

The project is working with local, indigenous people with the intent that they would operate these machines, moving them along the routes to their fishing grounds, for example, so maintaining their traditional land and livelihood. Whilst the basic idea has been proven, much work is now needed to develop the detailed design, locations and operation so that the potential of this simple, natural, idea (the machines will be wind powered, for example) can be fully fulfilled. To find out more or volunteer, please email me or visit the website below.

Keith Beasley is based in Bangor where he offers a range of workshops and consultations to help bring out our inherent Emotionally Intelligent, creative, psychic and spiritual natures.

The entire “liberal” media and political establishment of the Western world reveals its militarist, authoritarian soul today with the screaming and hysterical attacks on the very prospect of detente with Russia. Peace apparently is a terrible thing; a renewed arms race, with quite literally trillions of dollars pumped into the military industrial complex and hundreds of thousands dying in proxy wars, is apparently the “liberal” stance. Political memories are short, but just 15 years after Iraq was destroyed and the chain reaction sent most of the Arab world back to the dark ages, it is now “treason” to question the word of the Western intelligence agencies, which deliberately and knowingly produced a fabric of lies on Iraqi WMD to justify that destruction.

It would be more rational for it to be treason for leaders to blindly accept the word of the intelligence services. This is especially true on “Russia hacking the election” when, after three years of crazed accusations and millions of man hours by lawyers and CIA and FBI investigators, they are yet to produce any substantive evidence of accusations which are plainly nuts in the first place. This ridiculous circus has found a few facebook ads and indicted one Russian for every 100,000 man hours worked, for unspecified or minor actions which had no possible bearing on the election result. There are in fact genuine acts of election rigging to investigate. In particular, the multiple actions of the DNC and Democratic Party establishment to rig the Primary against Bernie Sanders do have some very real documentary evidence to substantiate them, and that evidence is even public. Yet those real acts of election rigging are ignored and instead the huge investigation is focused on catching those who revealed Hillary’s election rigging. This gets even more absurd – the investigation then quite deliberately does not focus on catching whoever leaked Hillary’s election rigging, but instead seeks to prove that the Russians hacked Hillary’s election-rigging, which I can assure you they did not. Meanwhile, those of us who might help them with the truth if they were actually interested, are not questioned at all.

The Russophobic witch hunt has its first real life victim in 29 year old Maria Butina, whose life is to be destroyed for chatting up members of the NRA in order to increase Russian influence. With over 20 years of diplomatic experience, I can tell you that every country, including the UK and US, has bit part players of its own nationals who self-start in a country to make their way, and if they gain any traction are tapped by their national security service as potential “agents of influence”. I could name quite literally scores of such people, but have no desire to get anyone in trouble. The elevation of Butina into a huge threat and part of a gigantic plot, is to ignore the way the United States and the United Kingdom and indeed all major governments’ Embassies behave around the globe.

The war-hawks who were devastated by the loss of champion killer Hillary now see the prospect of their very worst fear coming true. Their very worst fear is the outbreak of peace and international treaties of arms control. Hence the media and political establishment today has reached peaks of hysteria never before seen. Pursuing peace is “treason” and the faux left now stand starkly exposed.

Roundhouse Storytelling present...

“Gone Cuckoo”
The compelling tale of a bird’s journey, its song, its myths and its decline.

Told by Malcolm Green with Joshua Green (music)

It’s shortly after dawn at RAF Fylingdales and a cuckoo is having a transmitter strapped to his back. A few weeks later he will have flown thousands of miles across Europe and over the Sahara Desert to equatorial Africa. For millennia, the cuckoo’s call has inspired songs, stories and poems. Does he bring the spring? Tell our fortunes? Was he the shapeshifter that became a hawk? He certainly fools the reed warblers who feed him as a changeling baby. Now the voice of the cuckoo is fading – where has it gone?

Each year in the northern hemisphere during the solar month of Virgo, grains, fruits, and vegetables are harvested to be preserved and stored to sustain life throughout the winter. It seemed quite appropriate, therefore, when I once heard a planetarium director refer to Virgo as the “Mother of the Harvest.”

In esoteric astrology, Virgo is the mother of another type of harvest: the harvest of the perfected Soul from the womb of form. It is one of the lessons of Virgo that the very purpose of form life is to enhouse the life of the Soul, while facilitating the personality’s experiences, growth, and education. The body is indeed the “Temple of the Soul.” And the personality, which unfolds and reaches a high degree of development in the sign of Leo, becomes the “mother of the Christ principle” in Virgo. This is a symbolic way of saying that in this sign, the personality assumes the role of nurturer and shielder of the inner Christ Self which lies latent until the personality is prepared to give It birth.

In Virgo, one begins to make one’s personality useful to the indwelling Christ which one is learning to recognize. One purifies one’s motives and redirects one’s talents and mind toward service – the service which results in a higher level of consciousness which stimulates the inner Christ Light.

The Soul and the body, which are distinct and separate in Gemini, begin to be blended in Virgo.

In Virgo, the Word of God/dess begins to take form through the infant Soul which is, as yet, hidden. It is said that this Hidden Spiritual Reality, this indwelling Christ, is eventually and finally manifested in the sign of Pisces.

There is a reason why the form must be gradually prepared, adjusted, and aligned before the consciousness, or inner Soul, can be awakened. If higher spiritual energies are registered by an unprepared form, the form becomes shattered and destroyed. This is why the nervous system, the glandular system, and the brain must be developed and brought to certain degrees of perfection before they can safely receive the highly refined energies from spiritual realms.

In orthodox astrology Virgo represents the processes of assimilation and digestion, the taking in of food whose nutrients are stored for future use. (This meaning is contrasted with that of Cancer, which, in orthodox astrology, represents the process of ingesting food for instant gratification.)

By analogy, in esoteric astrology, Virgo rules the assimilation and digestion of life experiences, those life experiences which contribute to the growth and eventual perfection of the personality.

Virgo is related to the concept of the “womb of time”. Just as the harvest must be stored and hidden away for a period of time, Virgo represents the gestation period of the Soul, a time during which the Soul is hidden.

Sheltered in this womb of time, Virgo has many opportunities to distill practical, everyday wisdom from the variety of experiences she encounters in adjusting to life in an earthbound environment, while learning to give loving service in this environment.

Virgo, the “Virgin Mother”, represents the mothering of the unborn Christ through the purification of her physical, astral, and mental bodies. In this sign, the nurturing mother hides and protects the indwelling Christ within her own substance. She simultaneously nourishes two lives: that of the form and that of the Christ hidden within this form. Her esoteric ruler is the Moon, the mother of all earthly forms. The Moon absorbs and receives the energies of the Sun and other planets in order to transmit nurturing energies to physical life on Earth. In the same way, the life of the personality form in Virgo absorbs, receives, and subordinates itself to the inner spiritual Will to transmit nurturing energies to the hidden Christ Self.

To put it another way, Virgo represents the process whereby matter and form life are purified so that they can eventually reveal Divinity. This is the true reason for the continual striving toward perfection that is so characteristic of this sign. It is necessary for Virgo to constantly adjust, analyze, and discriminate in order to produce the type of form that will be able to nurture, and eventually bring forth, the Christ within.

We can now see Virgo’s seemingly obsessive attention to detail, her incessant discriminatory observations, and her often misunderstood particularities in a new light.

By devotedly nurturing her physical body, her personality, and the physical environment in which she lives, Virgo is also nurturing her Soul, for her Soul, though hidden at this stage, is, in turn, being sheltered and nourished by her body, personality, and environment.

By nurturing and refining the physical environment, she is not only nurturing her own Soul, but also the Soul of Humanity, producing the conditions that will pave the way for the collective Christ consciousness to be born on this planet.

The analogy between Virgo’s traditional and esoteric meanings now becomes clear. Just as the small intestine, which Virgo traditionally rules, assimilates food and prepares it for use by the physical body, esoteric Virgo assimilates the experiences of life and distills their inherent wisdom in order to feed and refine her personality. In this way she is preparing her personality to receive the full impact of her Soul’s energy.

When this full impact is finally achieved, her Soul blossoms, her personality becomes Its devoted instrument, and the indwelling Christ Self is fully born.

The Great Invocation
From the point of Light within the Mind of God
Let light stream forth into the minds of men.
Let Light descend on Earth.

From the point of Love within the Heart of God
Let love stream forth into the hearts of men.
May Christ return to Earth.

From the centre where the Will of God is known
Let purpose guide the little wills of men –
The purpose which the Masters know and serve.

From the centre which we call the race of men
Let the Plan of Love and Light work out
And may it seal the door where evil dwells.

Let Light and Love and Power restore the Plan on Earth.

A Network of Goodwill

In every neighbourhood we can find kindred spirits who share a vision of a beautiful and humane world, and who share a commitment to making it a reality.

They might be found planting organically - food, herbs, flowers, forests; or simplifying their lives, using less fossil fuels, recycling and repairing, going by bus and by bicycle, pouring less poison down the sink and less waste into the landfill. They might be working to restore the soul in science; or creating artefacts that are sustainable and beautiful; or sharing their craft in sound, colour or form.

Others are reaching out to those that society has abandoned; or reminding big organisations to respect life at human scale; or challenging “expert” opinions. They may be choosing a more compassionate diet, moving their money to a more ethical bank or credit union, raising their children without force or fear. They may be pioneering new ways to exchange ideas, skills and resources; experimenting with different kinds of household or community; or simply remembering how to play, sing and dance together without dependence on drugs or alcohol.

Some are learning to heal - bringing together wisdom and skills from different ages, cultures and dimensions. Then there are those who are advocates for the voiceless kingdoms - animal, vegetable and mineral - that depend on human beings for their welfare and survival.

Others are struggling to uproot violence - in the nation, the community, the home and the heart - learning to think, to speak and to act without cruelty.

Most are politically engaged, but each with their own unique mix of causes and ideals. Many prefer to "follow the money" rather than a party line - aware that every donation and purchase they make every day is a powerful vote for good or ill.

Most are spiritually active, but without a conventional creed. They may practice meditation or mindfulness, and use the insights and strength from their inner work to inform their service in the world.

Some are reclaiming the great seasonal rituals, aligning themselves with the cycles of Earth, Sun, Moon and Stars; or reinventing those essential rites of passage: the initiations of birth, coming of age, marriage, death and spiritual unfoldment.

Many sense that the world will need a vast outpouring of goodwill if it is to make it through the next few decades intact. Some found their deeper purpose through personal crisis - perhaps global crisis is humanity's great opportunity?

Do you recognise yourself here? Are you a member of this extraordinary group? Are you one of those resisting the great tide of materialism that would engulf our civilisation? Are you among those building little altars and centres and refuges of hope for a more compassionate world? If so, you need support! Network News exists to reach, encourage and support all members of this “network of goodwill”. A space where members can meet, share their gifts and celebrate their unity and their diversity. A place to vision, to collaborate, and to affirm that, truly, “another world is possible”.
